ANESTHESIA CAMP, GRAND CAYMAN

STATEMENT OF NEED

This activity is designed to educate clinicians about non-narcotic analgesia, including regional anesthesia, NSAIDs, GABAminergic drugs, alpha2 agonists, and others; about risks and benefits of transfusion, newly proposed algorithms, and recent research suggesting lower transfusion triggers in targets in different surgical populations; and meet the needs of many clinicians who do pediatric anesthesia infrequently. While some advocate regionalization and subspecialization, the reality is that many clinicians, particularly in rural areas, must care for these children

TARGET AUDIENCE

Anesthesiologists, hospitalists, intensivists, pain management physicians; CRNAs.

DISCLOSURE

The Duke University School of Medicine adheres to ACCME Essential Areas, Standards, and Policies regarding industry support of continuing medical education. Disclosure of the planning committee and faculty's commercial relationships will be made known at the activity. Speakers are required to openly disclose any limitations of data and/or any discussion of any off-label, experimental, or investigational uses of drugs or devices in their presentations.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this educational activity, participants should be able to: 1. Provide patients with multimodal analgesia.

Reduce acute pain. Reduce chronic postop pain. 2. Treat anemia and/or hypovolemia. Diagnose and treat coagulopathies.
